INTERHOUSE RKKMUN

Issue 3

CONFERENCE NEWSLETTER DAY 2

From the Dean of IT 's Desk Jaswinder Pal Singh

Students can have great discussions on these topics and get a better understanding of issues in today's world and how such issues are dealt with in the real world. This particular challenge, "Mitigating Cyber Warfare to Ensure Cyber Security Globally. The committee was inspired by the theme and was able to relate to the growing challenge that societies face in the globalized world. Young people are the ones who are going to be the biographers of the future so it's only fair that they are provided with the tools to change the way the world is.

Students are not only provided with the skills to work in globalized professions but also the tools to deal with new unforeseen challenges because let's be honest there are always going to be new dangers. Definitely, there is going to be an improvisation of innovative solutions that would pave the progressive growth of nations.

Those of you charting the path of negotiations and debating in the course of the conference are wished good luck. You can definitely contribute to this fantastic growth by providing unique ideas that will innovate the way in which foreign relations are viewed.

Letter from the Chairs

After two days of deliberations and negotiations, I am proud to say that the conference concluded with lots of learnings not only for the delegates but also for every Executive Board member and the Organizing committee. The delegates showed great enthusiasm and embraced diplomacy in the two days of the conference. The diplomats also multi-tasked as they wrote chits, gave speeches, drafted the resolution and tackled the pressing issues of the world.

Warm Regards,
Pari Salecha
Chairperson DISEC

The past two days of rapid debates took me to fall into tears of joy during the closing ceremony, and that's exactly how I would describe the impact this conference had on me. Even though it took a toll on the delegates to acclimatize at the first place especially with the crisis, they soon gained pace and adapted to the situations and discussed beautifully. Marking them came out as a tough job because all of them were equally amazing. I hope the saga of learning and MUNning continues!

Day 2 of RKKMUN'24

The committee began with an unmoderated caucus, where delegates lobbied and showed their negotiation skills. This was followed by a session from the Chair on writing a General Speaker's List (GSL) and techniques of making your research useful. After roll call, delegates delivered speeches full of solutions. Many Points of Information (POIs) were raised and promptly answered. An open debate challenge on "Countering Islamophobia" took place in which the Chair came in as the surprise delegate of Russia to create spark in the committee. The UK then introduced a moderated caucus on "Providing economic relief to victims of terrorism," where delegates discussed about their policies followed by an unmoderated caucus for the Draft Resolution where 2 blocs were formed-The USA and UK bloc and The China- Pakistan bloc. The Draft Resolution which constituted of amazing solutions was passed and the committee passed beautifully with a concluding feedback session.

DISEC kicked on with a rapid unmoderated caucus wherein the lobbied functionally, whereafter the delegates looked for the sharing of the best approaches to the culture of cyber reliability and building momentum towards international action. All of the delegates pointed out their countries' initiatives focusing on continuous training of employees about cyber threats and practices. At last, after tiring paperwork the committee passed with good majority. At last, the draft resolution by the delegates of USA, Japan, UK, France passed with majority of the votes.

Glimpse of the Closing Ceremony

The inaugural edition of the Inter House RKK MUN '24 was concluded successfully with a remarkable closing ceremony, marking an end to the 2 days of deliberations. Sonakshi Charan and Sonakshi Pareek hosted the event with great pride. The event was graced by the Chief Guest Ma'am Seema Baxi, Dean Academics Seniors. Followed by an enriching video highlighting the essence of RKK MUN. The Executive Boards of both the committees announced the winners for the conference and the Chief Guest presented the awards. The awards presented to delegates were as follows: UNGA Best Delegate was bagged by the delegate of UK, High Commendation was awarded to the delegate of India and the Special mentions were received by the delegates of Pakistan and USA. For DISEC, the best delegate award was presented to the delegate of Belarus, the delegate of Russia received the High Commendation award and the Special Mentions were bagged by the delegates of USA and Japan. Then, Certificates were presented to the Executive Boards and the IPC team for their hard work and dedication. A heartfelt speech by the MUN co-ordinator Ma'am Jyoti Ratan Singh was then given which inspired all the delegates. After that, Ma'am Seema Baxi shared her inspiring words which constituted of how the conference came out as a great success as well as how age is just a number and marked the conference closed. The ceremony concluded with Yahvi Sharma presenting the Vote of thanks. The event left delegates with valuable lessons on global issues.

MUN Meetha Karo

MUNs are much like preparing a sweet dish where each delegate brings their unique ingredient to the table, creating a resolution that blends diverse ideas and perspectives. "MUN Meetha Karo" is a reminder that while debates and negotiations are critical, the spirit of diplomacy lies in collaboration. The sweetness of MUN comes from forming friendships, building confidence through speeches, and gaining strength in resolving conflicts. These experiences help delegates find common ground despite differences, teaching us to navigate challenges gracefully while fostering optimism in our resolutions. So, as delegates gather to debate and deliberate, "MUN Meetha Karo" serves as an encouragement to approach diplomacy with kindness, empathy, and a touch of sweetness to make the world just a little brighter.

The Essence of Diplomacy and Solutions

MUNs are not built on a single element but cumulate justice, empathy, and growth. Like the sculpture, diplomacy is never flawless, yet its beauty lies in the attempt to put together solutions for a better world. The sculpture's lips remind us of the power of words, speeches creates ripples in the vast ocean of negotiation, where voices shape history and ideas come alive, paving the way for new resolutions.

The ticking clock serves as a reminder of the urgency of addressing global crises and drafting resolutions.

Roman numbers evoke the deep historical context behind each global issue negotiated, reminding delegates to learn from past mistakes. The anatomical heart is a metaphor for the dedication that delegates bring to the floor, driving their quest for impactful solutions. It also reflects a reminder that behind policy lies humanity. The statue-holding scales act as justice and are central to MUNs as delegates strive to create equitable solutions for nations and people.

Butterflies serve as a symbol of growth and transformation, reflecting how MUNs experience cultivates delegates' skills and perspectives. MUNs show that diplomacy involves speaking with conviction, listening purposefully, and courageously driving change. They illustrate a platform where history, empathy, and justice meet, empowering young minds to create a more sustainable future.

Interviews and Insights

Question: What unique qualities does your house bring to this MUN conference and how will you highlight them?

Our house stands out for teamwork, creativity, and leadership. We work well together, think of unique solutions, and lead with respect and fairness. At the MUN conference, we will show these qualities through active participation, clear arguments, and positive interactions, making a valuable contribution to every discussion.

Question: The agenda in our UNGA committee is 'Enhancing Global Cooperation to Combat Terrorism and Violent Extremism.' What are your thoughts on this issue?

Congratulations to the Organising Committee and the MUN Co-ordinator for conducting a successful IHRKKMUN'24. The agenda for UNGA is the need of the hour, that is combating and mitigating terrorism. There is a need for global alliances because terrorism is a menace for the entire world since one country can't individually fight terrorism. These terrorists have to be dealt in a strict manner, be it financially or any other manner. The people supporting terrorism by giving so - called reasons, are adding confidence to these terrorists to carry out unforgivable tasks. They are slowly turning into urban terrorists and differentiating between good terrorism and bad terrorism. Terrorism can't be differentiated because TERRORISM IS TERRORISM!

~Mrs. Priti Goyal

Question: 'Your country faces challenges in tracking crypto currency or other emerging financial tools used by terrorist groups'. What measures would your country take?

As the DPRK, we realise the challenges faced in crypto currency and efforts are made to curb the same as well. The RGB oversees a range of cyber operations, including crypto currency and hazardous groups and significant efforts have been made over the years. We do not aim to engage in cyber warfare or harm/threaten states with nuclear or cyber intelligence. Our sole purpose is to protect and develop ourselves and be self resilient and protect our citizens from the polluted western culture.

~The delegate of Democratic People's Republic of Korea

Question: How is your country investing in cyber defence capabilities?

Japan advocates for the establishment of strong national cyber security strategies that include not only robust Defence mechanisms, but also deterrence measures.

This includes research into offensive and defensive cyber security capabilities while ensuring that these strategies are consistent with international law and do not accelerate tensions in cyberspace.

~Delegate of Japan

Kabhi Khushi Kabhi MUN

[For the Gossip Mongers]

-The chair of GA turned from being super rude to being super emo super soon!

"Unka DIRECTIVE kaise fail karaye?"

"What do you mean? Manipulation is a technique??"

-When you give your time to EB in DISEC only for them to turn around and ask a more difficult question instead.

India from GA was lowk cute

-The EB does the work of IPC, IPC does the work of Logistics and Logistics doesn't work at all.

"Delegate of Iraq in DISEC was watching Disney memes"

"How does this South Africa look cute and speak well at the same time?"

"Yeh UK Bolna kab band hogi"

"The CRISIS ripped my soul apart!"
